Visiting Nurse Association

VNA serves housebound people

By Lynne Locke

The Visiting Nurse Association (VNA) of Pomona-West End is dedicated to serving housebound people regardless of income, according to director Jane L. Hull, R.N.

Services include nursing, personal care and physical, speech and occupational therapy as well as homemaker services. Housebound people can be as self-sufficient as possible and adjust to daily activities with the help of visiting nurses and homemakers, according to a VNA pamphlet.

"Cost should never defer anyone from calling. If there is a real need, we will put in as many visits as we can," Mrs. Hull said. The organization serves West End residents of all ages, from tiny babies to senior citizens.

People are referred to VNA by doctors and hospitals or they can call VNA themselves. Mrs. Hull said VNA needs a doctor's order before doing nursing services such as giving injections and changing dressings. All care including homemaker services are under the direction of a registered nurse, she said.

Mrs. Hull said a large part of the program is teaching. Nurses teach crutch walking and use of a walker. They teach diabetics about their diets and how to give their own insulin injections. Nurses teach first-time mothers how to care for newborn babies.

Many families learn how to care for stroke victims and young adults paralyzed in automobile accidents. After training the families, VNA serves as a continuing life-line people can call for help, Mrs. Hull said.

Therapists teach exercises to prevent muscle and joint problems and increase motion in stiff joints. They also provide speech therapy and help people adapt their homes to make normal living activities easier.

VNA also offers both long and short-term personal care and homemaker services. A homemaker can help with general household management such as vacuuming, laundry and paying bills as well as grocery shopping and meal preparation.

Mrs. Hull said the homemaker service is especially important for senior citizens. There is a nationwide need for homemaker service funding so more elderly people can live at home, she said.

Some people have 24-hour homemakers. Others have a homemaker come in for just a few hours each day. Mrs. Hull said many older people can care for themselves but become confused at night. In these cases, a homemaker stays each night at the person's home.

The mother-substitute service is particularly exciting, Mrs. Hull said. The homemaker feeds children and supervises their play while the mother is hospitalized and during her home recovery period.

Mrs. Hull said many people aren't aware of the mother-substitute service. "It makes a lot better sense for a mother substitute to be in the home than for the husband to take time off his job," she noted.

VNA also coordinates services with other community agencies such as social workers and Meals on Wheels.

VNA is a private, voluntary nonprofit corporation which serves the west end of San Bernardino County and the east end of Los Angeles County. Nurses visit people from Walnut and Diamond Bar to Etiwanda and even have gone to Baldy Village, Mrs. Hull said. VNA has bilingual personnel to help people who don't speak English.

Nursing services can be paid through Medicare, Medi-Cal and insurance plans. Medi-Cal and Medicare do not cover homemaker services, Mrs. Hull said. Adjustment to part fee or no fee is made for those who are unable to pay the entire cost, she noted.

VNA is a United Way Agency and is licensed by the California Department of Public Health. For information call 624-3574 or 621-3961.

Persons concerned with planning the future of West End communities are invited to enroll in a new Chaffey College offering for the spring quarter.

The course, entitled Urban Planning and the Development Process, is scheduled for 6-10 p.m. Wednesdays starting April 5.

Teaching the class will be urban planner Steve Ross, a staff member of the Orange County Environmental Management Agency.

The course is designed to give homeowners, community activists and realtors insight into the workings of city planning departments. Covered will be zoning procedures and development processes and principles as well as environmental considerations.

Emphasized will be a practical approach to everyday problems in community development, according to Ross. "Our objective is to provide students with the tools they need to participate more effectively in urban planning," Ross said.

The new course has been added to the Chaffey College Real Estate program. No prerequisites are entailed.

Registration at the tuition-free college is March 25-27. The spring quarter ends June 20.

For additional information in admission procedures, call the college, 987-1737 or 822-4484.

ORIFLAMME 'reaches out' to senior citizens

"Can't get to the library? The library will come to you," says a poster advertising ORIFLAMME, a special program which "reaches out" to senior citizens and housebound people in San Bernardino, Riverside and Inyo counties.

ORIFLAMME's main project is Books-by-Mail which mails library materials without charge for materials or postage.

Housebound people have to rely on others for so much that they have to ask someone to go to the library, said ORIFLAMME coordinator Marsha Neuber. Through Books-by-Mail people can receive books, recorded books, tapes of classical and popular music, and art prints. Books come in regular print, large print and Spanish.

She said people can ask for books by author or title or can request by subject such as "mysteries" or "California history." Materials are loaned for a month and can be renewed.

Materials will be mailed to individual homes or to people in nursing or retirement homes, Ms. Neuber said. The Postal Service has had experience with books for the blind and is very helpful with Books-by-Mail, she noted.

Materials are sent in a mailing container called a "jiffy bag," and postage costs are paid by ORIFLAMME. There is no fine for overdue materials.

ORIFLAMME also offers film and slide programs for senior citizen clubs and convalescent homes. The film program includes shows every other week for three months. The program's purpose is to encourage institutions to continue programs using films from local libraries, Ms. Neuber said.

ORIFLAMME works with Upland Public Library to offer free film and slide shows open to all area residents. Films are shown 2 p.m. the second and fourth Mondays of the month.

Slide shows, 2 p.m. the first Monday of the month, feature volunteers who have traveled throughout the United States and the world. Ms. Neuber said many older people carpool to the film and slide shows which are held in the afternoon so people won't have problems driving at night.

Ms. Neuber said she needs volunteers to show slides or films, to find people who need the mailing service and to pick out and read books to others. ORIFLAMME also is seeking people to speak about topics of interest to senior citizens.

No experience is required for volunteers. There is no age limit. The only requirement is an interest in older people or library services, according to an ORIFLAMME newsletter.

Ms. Neuber will speak to any church group, seniors club, service organization or public agency interested in the project. She brings sample books, art prints and other materials to demonstrate the project's services.

ORIFLAMME originally was funded by the California Office on Aging with a $46,300 grant through Title III of the Older Americans Act. The California State Library is funding the second year of service with $38,000 grant from the Library Services and Construction Act.

The Inland Library System provides office space, furniture, supplies and personnel time to ORIFLAMME.

Future plans include working the project into programs so services can be continued when funding is stopped in September.

To receive Books-by-Mail or for information about any of ORIFLAMME's services, write to Louis Robidoux Branch Library, 5763 Tilton Ave., Riverside, CA 92509, attention: Marsha Neuber.

Information also is available through Upland, Montclair and Rancho Cucamonga libraries.

Juvenile crime study finished

Montclair policeman Bruce Bess has returned to his regular assignment following completion of an eight-week study on juvenile delinquency. Bess was one of 56 persons in the 60th semi-annual class of the Delinquency Control Institute. He participated through a full-tuition scholarship from the Automobile Club of Southern California.

Conducted in Los Angeles, at the University of Southern California, the DCI program features intensive training in the most up-to-date techniques for dealing with youth and community problems. Special emphasis is placed on delinquency prevention. Fifty-four students were from law enforcement agencies in 35 California communities, 11 states and Guam. Three women are among the enrollees.

All were honored recently during a special luncheon at the Automobile Club of Southern California headquarters in Los Angeles. Bess is one of four current recipients of an auto club grant, bringing to 172 the number of DCI scholarships presented by the club since the institute's founding. The auto club also serves DCI in an advisory capacity.

Bess joined the Montclair Police Department four years ago, following one year counseling with the Blackstone Rangers in Chicago. He is a youth services officer, providing counseling and guidance assistance to area juveniles and working with local schools.

The noon gathering featured talks by class president Larry Tyree, deputy, Maricopa County Sheriff's Department, Maricopa, Arizona; Steven M. Ward, DCI director; and Richard P. Byrne, judge, Los Angeles County Superior Court, assigned to the juvenile court.

Following Judge Byrne's address, auto club President Harry V. Cheshire, Jr., told class participants, "We appreciate what you're doing about juvenile delinquency and your efforts to control it." He encouraged members to "spread the DCI story" throughout their own local areas.

Recognizing the auto club's "25 years of support for the DCI program," a plaque was presented to Cheshire by Dr. John Kirlin, acting dean, USC School of Public Administration, Center for Public Affairs.

Panel of 10 will study juvenile justice system

A 10-member commission composed of representatives of the judiciary, legislative and law enforcement branches of county government will examine San Bernardino County's juvenile justice system.

The county board of supervisors, which had approved the formation of the panel several weeks ago at the urging of Juvenile Court Judge Joseph Campbell, Monday designated the members of the committee and called for its first meeting.

The 10-member Juvenile Justice Special Committee will include a representative from the Delinquency Prevention Commission, the Superior Court presiding judge, a member of the sheriff's department, representatives from the board of supervisors, the California Youth Authority, the county probation department, the county counsel's office, the district attorney's office, the San Bernardino County Police Chiefs' Association and the county administrative officer.

The committee's first meeting will be held at 8 a.m. April 3 at the county complex in San Bernardino.

Judge Campbell asked the supervisors to open the committee's proceedings to the press.

"The public knows very little about the juvenile justice system," Judge Campbell said. "We should open the meetings to the press so some of the myths about the system can be stripped away."

Judge Campbell also reiterated a previous suggestion that the county consider building a "residential, non-institutional facility" in order to divert more juvenile offenders out of the juvenile justice system and provide them with intensive treatment.

Judge Campbell said juvenile hall is "not an appropriate facility" for a diversion program.

An experimental diversion program recently conducted in the county, the judge related, resulted in the rehabilitation of 22 of 24 juvenile offenders—to a point where there is "no reason to believe" the 22 youths will ever be repeat offenders.

Montclair, county seek federal funds together

Montclair city officials are applying jointly with the county to obtain Community Development Act funds for the next five years, according to Assistant City Administrator Thomas G. Mauk.

The city hopes to spend its money on upgrading the housing maintenance and housing rehabilitation programs, the rejuvenation of the Central Avenue area, purchase of park land in the moderate and low-income areas of the city and the installation of storm drains in those same areas.

The city also hopes to participate with the county in several joint projects including home rehabilitation loan programs and home counseling programs.

County officials have presented the proposal to the county board of supervisors who gave the go ahead to complete the application.

The Montclair Planning Commission has held several public hearings on the funding and has established a breakdown of funding for the first year of the federal program.

If funding through the Community Development Act of 1974 is distributed as expected, Montclair will receive $88,000 the first year with funds available around July 1.

The city plans on spending $53,000 on a housing maintenance program, $10,000 on a housing rehabilitation program, and $25,000 on the rehabilitation of Central Avenue.

City staff members are preparing a specific expenditure budget. This budget will be presented to the city council in the near future, Mauk noted.

Geology studied in park

Are we due for an earthquake? What can you do during and after a tremor to protect yourself? These thought provoking questions will be answered on Saturday when the San Bernardino County Regional Parks Department sponsors a four-hour geology walk.

Beginning at 10 a.m. in the main parking lot of Glen Helen Regional Park, this family outing will be led by a member of the department's interpretive staff. The trek will cover approximately three miles at a slow, easy pace, and will include a visit into the Cajon Creek Wash. In the wash, several varieties of rock will be examined and obtained.

In Glen Helen Park, signs of past earthquakes will be observed and discussed. Also seen will be the Glen Helen Fault. Discussion of how this fault changed the area's landscape, creating springs and lakes will take place during lunch.

Participants are advised to wear jeans and good, comfortable walking shoes. Hikers must provide their own sack lunches.

DUNKING DRESS — Martha Washington is said to have donned a "dunking dress" like this when she visited Berkely Springs with her daughter who had been advised to take the therapeutic waters. The gown was in linen, with a weighted hem to keep the skirt discretely in place when the bather entered the water. The costumes are from the swimwear retrospective, "The Styles That Made a Splash," produced by Sears, Roebuck and Co.

ONE-PIECE — Fit for a flapper, this knitted one-piece swim suit revealed arms and a good part of the legs and clung daringly close to the torso. Free from frills and furbelows, the bathing suits for women and men through the twenties were virtually interchangeable.

GIBSON GIRL — By the sea, Gibson Girls dressed like this. The bathing costume featured knickers, black stockings and a skirt that (for the adventurous) could be removed for swimming.

Swimtime U.S.A.

Styles that made a splash

Back in Martha Washington's day, a woman did not "swim," but (like a doughnut) was "dunked." To do so, the bather wore a long dress weighted at the hem to keep the skirt decorously in place while in the water.

Today, a woman takes the plunge in The String, a sleek maillot, or even in Le Minimum, Europe's name for the topless bikini. In swim fashions, as all fashions today, it seems that "anything goes."

The progress from 1769 to the present has been the story of a battle between the Victorian ethic and utilitarianism — and the evolution from total camouflage to total freedom in bathing costume has followed a remarkably direct course.

A review of this evolution, via film and fashion show, has recently been assembled. Dubbed "The Styles That Made a Splash," the program has been produced by Sears, Roebuck and Co. and is being made available by the retailer for use by women's clubs and school throughout the country.

As explained in the swimwear retrospective, the Etruscans, ancient Greeks and Romans bathed "au naturel." Then, around 440 A.D., came a curious event — the first bikinis appeared. During the middle ages bathing and swimming virtually disappeared, perhaps because of the belief that outdoor bathing helped to spread the epidemics then ravaging the continent. Swimming was reduced to no more than a useful skill for warriors.

Bathing for therapeutic purposes began to catch on in Europe in the late 17th and early 18th centuries, and America followed suit. Mrs. George Washington and her daughter visited Berkely Springs, West Virginia, in July 1769 so that the young Patsy could take the waters. Mrs. Washington is said to have worn a long linen gown, weighted at the hem, for the occasion.

In this period ladies were attended by female guides who dunked them. Signals for use of the bath by gentlemen, and then ladies, were trumpeted on a tin horn.

Mixed bathing by the shore was well under way by 1835, and became "the fashion" along the Atlantic Coast by 1850 — complete with the bathing machine, a wooden horse-drawn cabin on wheels for changing, and from which the bather entered the water. In the 1860's swimming had progressed to a health, exercise and personal cleanliness movement.

Many women learned to swim in the '70's and '80's, and by the '90's swimming had become a socially acceptable recreation. A new-and-approved bathing suit was in evidence about 1890. The sleeves were shortened and puffed, the trousers turned into knickers and the skirt—for the brave—was detachable for swimming.

The majority of American women stuck with the clumsy dresses and skirts. Those who defied the consensus had to endure parental wrath, scoldings from the pulpit, fines from the magistrate's bench and even social ostracism. But by 1903 every popular East Coast beach had its share of a few daring women who wore the first real swimsuits.

In 1909 Adeline Trapp of Brooklyn became the first woman to swim across the waters of Hell's Gate in New York's East River. And she did it in a one-piece knit suit. In 1910 Annette Kellerman of Australia appeared on the American scene. For her spectacular diving and swimming exhibitions she wore a sleeveless knit number that covered her from neck to toe—but clung like a thin layer of motor oil.

In the 1910's the female swimmer couldn't buy fitted Kellerman tights. But she could buy and wear men's swimsuits — sleeveless jersey outfits that ended above mid-thigh, worn without stockings.

As the ratio of "proper" beach costume began to shift to "outrageous," regulations sprang up to protect the public morals. Police combed the beaches for unlucky offenders—and were summarily booed by bathers.

But the tide had begun to turn. By 1923 bare legs were de rigueur. In '26 Gertrude Ederle Swam the English Channel in a form-fitting knit suit. It was the first tank suit to make a splash in the newspapers and was a harbinger of the fitted maillots to come.

Between 1926 and '30, American women discovered suntans—and the dressmaker bathing suit. It, along with the sleek maillot, was in the swim into the '40's. The '40's also brought the plunging back and the two-piece suit — great pin-up fare.

July 1946 saw the birth of the Bikini in France and by 1960 an even skimpier version had become acceptable beach attire on these shores. In '64 a few American designers discarded swimsuit tops. That summer a few brave women appeared on a few beaches in these monokini suits—and a few brave women were arrested.

The 1970's. Nudity is in, nudity is out. Covered-up looks are in, then out. Bikinis are in and out and then in again. It's an era of new freedom in fashion — and that goes for the beaches, too.

FLANNEL — Bathing beauties, circa 1855, appeared on American beaches in outfits like this: A checked flannel dress cinched with a belt and completed with bloomers. A "bathing machine" for changing and entering the water stands ready in the background.

1930'S — In the 1930's, two kinds of bathing outfits appeared on the beach or by the pool: The dressmaker and the fitted suit.

Not only were women seeking suntans in this decade, they were also wearing colored pail polish.

Museum offers gift book

The San Bernardino County Museum has published a commemorative book on the county.

A limited number of copies of the book are being given as gifts by the Chaffey Communities Cultural Center to those who donate $25 or more to the building fund.

Books should be picked up at the museum, located at 525 W. 18th St., Upland, as they will not be mailed.

Toy drive in progress at schools in district

The annual spring toy drive to restock the workshop at Santa Claus, Inc., begins this week in the schools of Ontario - Montclair School District.

Toys will be repaired and painted by volunteers to be ready for free distribution to needy families next Christmas. Last December, through the efforts of the volunteers at SCI, 4,105 children from 1,115 families received new clothing and toys.

The toy drive started Monday. Toys were collected at Bon View, Cypress, Howard, Mission, Ramona and Sultana Schools during the week.

Collection boxes will be at Berlyn, Edison, Elderberry, Euclid, Hawthorne and Kingsley schools during the week of March 17. The week of March 31 will conclude a toy drive at El Camino, Lehigh, Margarita, Moreno and Monte Vista schools.

SCI needs dolls, parts of dolls, wagons, tricycles, cars, books, games, skates and miscellaneous toys of all sizes. Parts of toys and games are welcome. Two parts often make one whole toy. Sewing materials plus patterns for girls and dolls are also needed.

Santa's Workshop at 1330 East D St., Ontario, is open Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays to receive and repair toys.

Club aids March of Dimes

Some 3,500 March of Dimes school envelopes, along with information sheets, have been distributed to five local elementary schools by the Cucamonga-Alta Loma Junior Women's Club.

The Juniors also participated in the Pass the Envelope campaign in their individual neighborhoods.

The money collected will be turned over to the March of Dimes to be used for research to prevent birth defects.

Two member of the club also attended a March of Dimes baby show held by another Junior Club. Baby items received at this shower were donated to the March of Dimes.

Upland Pack 609

Cub Scouts awarded

Den one of Cub Scout Pack 609, Upland, recently presented an original skit, "The Rock and Roll Six," to pack members.

Awards were presented to the following boys: wolf progress to Michael Hoch and Kurt Nielson; bear progress to Johnnie Fraijo and Bobby Coleman; bear award to Robert Klug and David Ward; silver arrow to Ricky Bradley; denner to Mark Nickels and Nickels; and assistant denner to David Lehr.

Two-year perfect attendance award went to Steve Gardner; three-year service award went to Richard Longo, Ricky LaRossa and Steve Gardner. Bobcat Kevin Pollock was welcomed.

The highest award of cub scouting, the arrow of light, was presented to these Webelos: Billy Moses, Jeff Fletcher, Ricky LaRossa, Scott Ewens, David Spradley, Paul

Three Webelos were accepted into Boy Scout Troop 601: Richard Longo, Steve Gardner and Ricky LaRossa.

Intermediate science curriculum study

Program focuses on individual

Ontario-Montclair School District's De Anza Jr. High has a science program that lets students learn individually and experimentally; it puts less emphasis on the class as a unit, and more on the individual student and his experiment.

The two aspects of the program that make it different from the traditional approach are 1) the teacher is as much an advisor as an instructor, roaming the classroom, advising and assisting whenever necessary, and 2) the material studied, though still selected and regulated by the teacher, conforms as much as possible to students' interests, abilities and backgrounds, as well as individual learning patterns.

The new program — labeled ISCS for Intermediate Science Curriculum Study — began at De Anza in January and has become increasingly popular with students.

Instead of working experiments as a class, the students work individually or in small groups, often on experiments they have chosen themselves. If a student becomes absorbed in a certain area, he may take an "excursion," outlined in the book, for an intensive study of that area.

Jim Smith, science teacher, says that this method is "more enjoyable and profitable for both teacher and students. The teacher has to be better prepared, but so does the student. I like it."

Activity for disabled

The Ontario Recreation Division, in cooperation with Chaffey College Adult Education, is offering a recreation class for the mentally disabled, ages teen to adult, at Colony Park Community Center, 1240 West 4th St.

The class meets every Tuesday night from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. No pre-registration is necessary, anyone interested should come to the community center. There is a fee of 25 cents per person each week.

Activities include simple craft projects, table games, pool, ping pong, relays, and refreshments. Supervision is provided by Chaffey College and the Ontario Recreation Division. The program is designed to be a relaxed evening of recreation with the participants free to select their own involvement in activities.

Anyone who is disabled and would benefit from an evening of socialization is welcome to attend. For additional information call 986-1151 ext. 242.

Override failure

Instructors get layoff notices

Some 50 Chaffey Union High School District teachers will soon get notification of dismissal.

The 50-person list represents the maximum number of instructors who could lose their jobs due to cost-cutting measures necessitated by the failure of Tuesday's tax override election.

In upcoming months, the district staff and board members will continue studying planned expenditures in an attempt to keep the layoffs to a minimum, board members announced.

The teachers are listed in alphabetical order:

Constance Albaugh, Mary Alexander, Jennifer Aten, Mike P. Balboni, Carolyn Ball, Richard Bare, Dean Bentley, Edwin Berger, Gloria Garcia-Berlinski, Jeanne Brondino, Cheryl Brown, DyAnne Burns, Barry Cadwallader, Sharlene

Cadwallader and Arthur Castro.

Dawn Chadwick, Padgett Christian, Wanda Courey, Gary Cronan, Douglas Eichorn, Dale Fleming, Dennis Garcia, George Harris, Dan Hele, Gail Houghton, Kathleen Hull, Joan Irvine, Edward Lease, Nancy Lease, John List, Jack Little, Deborah Mason and Patricia McCarthy.

Getting notice of reduction of teaching assignment from full day to two daily periods of teaching are Harold Barger and John Jacobs. Ben Taylor will get notice of a reduction to a four-period teaching day.

Census-taker jobs go unfilled

The county has been looking for 1,300 persons to work for three weeks as census takers—but has had too few takers.

The county is seeking people to work for three weeks at $20 to $25 per day canvassing neighborhoods in San Bernardino County.

As of Monday, 636 people had applied and 358 had been accepted, leaving 942 unfilled jobs.

"With unemployment in the West End above 11 per cent, people should welcome this work," Supervisor Robert O. Townsend said Monday.

The funds for paying the census takers are coming from the federal government under the Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA) but the county is charged with recruitment.

County Administrative Officer Robert Covington said the county is attempting to place census takers at work in their own neighborhoods.

Applications are being taken at Chino City Hall, Ontario City Hall and Fontana City Hall. Applications are also available at the Ontario Contact Station, 1010 S. Bon View Ave.

Greenhouse is built

Alta Loma High School's Honors Independent Study Science Class has built a greenhouse on campus. The greenhouse will be used by the independent study class as well as the biology classes.

Experiments to be performed are hydroponics, growing plants under different environments, growing plants in worm castings, picture study of plants growing and water pollution.

The greenhouse is 10 feet high, 9 feet wide and 9 feet long.

60th Orange Show begins

SAN BERNARDINO — A well-balanced program of entertainment, geared to suit all ages of fairgoers, has been put together for the 60th National Orange Show, which begins an 11-day run in San Bernardino Thursday.

A lot of fun, food and entertainment is jam-packed between the opening night California Citrus Queen Pageant and the March 23 finals of the RCA-sanctioned Orange Show Rodeo.

Free stage entertainment in Swing Auditorium this year opens with Michael Landon, 4 and 7:30 p.m., March 15; Bob Hope, 7:30 p.m., March 16; the Johnny Mann Singers, 7:30 March 17; Bobby Burgess and Cissy King, March 18; Dick Haymes, March 19; Rudy Vallee, March 20; Pedro Gonzales Gonzales, Mariachis Los Camperos and Los Galleros, March 22; and Phyllis Diller, March 23. Shows are at 2:30 and 7:30 on the last weekend.

Because of the success of a paid rock concert last year, the Orange Show this year presents two paid shows, a rock concert and a country-western show.

Tom T. Hall and Donna Fargo, two of the brightest country western stars on the current scene, will perform at 8 p.m. Friday.

The March 21 show will feature Rare Earth, Blue Oyster Cult and R.E.O. Speedwagon.

Forty counties, communities and organizations will compete for cash prizes in the colorful Citrus Feature Exhibits department. Through the use of animation, color and a minimum of 40 boxes of citrus fruits, exhibitors will transform the building into an awe-inspiring sight.

The San Bernardino

Exchange Club's kickoff luncheon at noon in the Restaurant will open the citrus exposition. Jerry Dunphy, a Los Angeles television newscaster, will speak.

The California Citrus Queen's Parade will be held at 4 p.m., moving from Sixth and E Streets to the show grounds. The Queen Pageant is scheduled for 7 p.m. in Swing.

A major event is the annual Citrus Institute, a day-long symposium open free to citrus growers. Speakers at the luncheon this year will be O.W. Fillerup, executive vice president of the Council of California Growers; Dr. Lowell N. Lewis, associate dean for Research, College of Natural and Agricultural Sciences, University of California at Riverside; and John Powell, president of Pure Gold, Inc., a Redlands-based citrus cooperative.

The morning program consists of a series of seven brief discussions covering problems of the citrus industry. There will be free parking until 11 a.m. and growers are admitted free to the Show.

Another major highlight is the two-day Orange Show Rodeo, expected to attract more than 100 top cowboys from the 11 Western states. They'll compete for cash prizes and points in the national standings. Rodeo events will be held March 22 and 23.

Mexican-American Days will be observed on the final weekend. Saturday's Swing program will feature Pedro Gonzales Gonzales and two well known mariachi groups. Entertainment on Stage II also will be geared to that theme.

Other highlights: —The All California Art Exhibition in the Art Gallery, where 112 traditional and modern works will be hung.

—The Flower and Garden Show, always one of the Southland's most colorful events of this kind. It's again in the Dome.

—Ladies' Day, March 19, and Junior Ladies' Day, March 20, will feature the finals of the Citrus Pie and Cake bakeoff and fashion parades.

—The American Legion's Armed Forces Parade will be at 11:30 a.m. on Sunday, March 16, from downtown San Bernardino to the Show grounds. Hundreds of bands and marching units will be on hand.

—The Hobby and Craft Show, where thousands of collections will be on display. Also in the Hobby Building will be the Tri-City Aquarium Society Show and the International Photography Salon.

—The fourth annual Twins Contest, at 10:30 a.m. in Swing on the final Sunday.

—Bob Baker Marionettes, free to youngsters.

—Holter's Movieland Petting Zoo, also a free attraction.

—Future Farmers and 4-H exhibits. FFA will hold a Junior Livestock Auction at 1 p.m. on the last day.

More than 40 beautiful girls will compete in the Queen Pageant on opening night. Alphabetically by town they are:

Debra Kastilahn, Apple Valley; Cindy Harms, Azusa; Christina Velasco, Baldwin Park; Maureen Stockdale, Banning; Monica Patterson, Barstow; Marianne Maron, Big Bear Lake; Donna Faulkner, Blythe; Caryl Bevan, Buena Park; Kathleen Ramirez, Colton; Candy Hammer, Cypress; Melinda Jansen, Downey; Miriam de la Flor, Duarte; Vickie Schubel, El Monte-South El Monte; Valinda

Maidens, Fontana; Vicki Milne, Hawthorne; Teri Forst, Hemet; Lori Dismuke, Indio.

Always a favorite

Dahlia plants now plate-sized

The Dahlia is one of those rags-to-riches plants so beautiful and widely grown today that it is difficult to think of a time it was not a garden favorite. Yet, it was only fairly recently that the plate-size Dahlias and multi-colored varieties — with their brilliant colors — were developed and introduced to home gardeners, says the California Association of Nurserymen. One of the delightful aspects of Spain's conquest of Mexico was the appearance of some roots in the Botanic Gardens in Madrid in 1789. The plants that sprang forth were hardly spectacular, but they interested the Swedish professor, Andreas Dahl, an ardent follower of the great botanist Linnaeus; Dahl devoted so much time to this Mexican native it was named in his honor. Hence, Dahlias. Actually, it was many years and several thousand plants later that the ancestors of the present Dahlias appeared, and the vast array of different flower forms were developed.

To avoid any misconception about what Dahlias like and dislike, a review is in order. Though Dahlias worship the sun and delight in heat, they reach their greatest perfection in coastal gardens. Certainly they do well in the hot, dry valley — but do best if planted on the east side of the house. They don't mind altitude, and are very rugged as long as you keep them out of strong winds — and out of a bog. But, they are not like cactus that can go without water.

The California Association of Nurserymen says ideal growing conditions for Dahlias include a soil that is loose and well-drained; plenty of organic matter in the soil so that enough moisture is retained to keep the plants growing well; and plenty of moisture.

Cascading garden is appealing

Can you name a more appealing sight in any garden than a blooming plant that cascades its color over the edge of a wall — or spills it over the rim of a suspended container?

If gardening on the level, there are sufficient rewards in store to make it worth installing some raised planters — just to see the contents tumbling down. Don't overlook gardening in hanging baskets, no matter what the contour of the land is.

Whatever your penchant for some particular phase of gardening, nurseries have an amor bloom, in dense shade.

Outstanding is the word to describe Tuberous Begonias. American Plant Breeders have developed this bulb flower so now it blooms in every imaginable shade of white and red and lush blending tones of apricot, salmon, yellow and pink.

In addition to being obliging about its planting site (it grows in shade and in sun—except in the hot interior valleys) the Tuberous Begonia blooms in a variety of forms: double camellia, double picotee, ruffled, crested, and rose-form, to mention a few. The hanging basket types are a summertime sensation in California. Now is a good time to plant Tuberous Begonias, says the California Association of Nurserymen. Begonia tubers (bulbs) are available now. In April, small seedling plants will be found in nurseries.

Dwarf Dahlias are a summer's delight, providing abundant color for the garden and showy cut flowers for indoor arrangements. Nurseries have Dahlia tubers available for planting now.

Pomona Valley Council of Churches

George Romney to speak at breakfast

The Honorable George Romney will be the featured speaker for the fourth Annual Laymen's Breakfast sponsored by the Pomona Valley Council of Churches to be held on Wednesday, March 19 at Griswold's Pavilion, 555 West Foothill Blvd., Claremont.

This annual event which brings together laymen from the 11 communities currently served by the Council will begin at 7 a.m. and conclude promptly at 8:30 a.m., thereby permitting men to be in attendance and also do their days work.

Romney, has been prominent in the political arena for a number of years, having served three times as governor of Michigan and as a former Secretary of Housing and Urban Development.

A renowned business man, he was the president and chairman of the board of American Motors Corporation for eight years. Since his resignation from his cabinet post in 1973, he has been devoting almost full time to private public service activities including the National Center for Voluntary Action, located in Washington D.C. He serves this latter organization as chairman of the board.

Romney is a committed churchman and a member of the Mormon Church. From these roots has grown his interest in and dedication to those principles and programs which allow equal opportunity to all persons.

The program and arrangements for this event have been handled by a group of laymen and ministers representing the churches of the Pomona Valley. Included among them are the general chairman of the event, Dr. Harold Fasnacht, President Emeritus of La Verne College; David Martin, chairman of hospitality; Bert Norton, chairman of registration; Craig McManigal, chairman of arrangements; and Dr. G. Merrill Lenox, chairman of relationships with service clubs.

Honored guests at the breakfast will be the presidents and former presidents of the Pomona Valley Colleges, including Pomona, Pitzer, Scripps, Citrus, Chaffey, La Verne, Claremont Men's College, Claremont Graduate School, School of Theology, Mt. San Antonio College, Harvey Mudd and California State Polytechnic University.

Assisting in the program will be President Stanley Warburton of Chaffey College, President Robert Kramer of Cal Poly, President Jack Stark of Claremont Men's College, and President Gordon Michaelson of the School of Theology, Claremont.

The Rev. Leland Wilson, president of the Council of Churches, and Audrey

Lightbody, executive director of the council will also be among the participants. Song leading will be under the direction of the Rev. Ralph Lightbody, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Ontario. Reservations must be made for this event and may be made by sending a check for $3.25 to

Kite-a-thon planned by Bethany Baptist Church

A kite-a-thon has been announced by the Rev. D. L. Bray, pastor of Bethany Baptist Church of Montclair, to be held at Alma Hoffman Park Montclair 1:45 p.m. Sunday.

The purpose of the kite-a-thon is for young people of the church to raise money for the Easter Week Youth Work Project in Mexico.

Sponsors will pledge to pay an amount for each foot the kite flies. This money will assist with the cost of the work at Calvary Church in Tijuana, Mexico, as the high school young people work there during Easter week.

The young people have invited the Keenagers (senior adults) of the church to be their guests at a picnic in the park immediately after the 11 a.m. worship service at the church.

The evening service, at 6 in the sanctuary, will feature both a film and Elaine Grisso, musician.

The film, a color film by Campus Crusade, "World of the Seance," demonstrates how people are often tricked into believing that they are communicating with the spirit world. Andre Krole is one of the greatest illusionists.

Mrs. Grisso, currently organist at the church and staff musician for "The Amazing Story" radio broadcast, has an extensive musical background which began with parents who felt music is an important part of life.

She began piano at age 7 and started singing publicly around the same age. She has sung at the old favorite Phil Kerr musicals at San Gabriel Civic Auditorium, where people talked of her as the little girl with the big voice.

She sang and played her way through high school and then continued her music studies at Biola College in organ and voice, as well as singing in the Biola Chorale. For several years she was staff pianist for San Gabriel/Pomona YFC.

She is noted for her singing and speaking at banquets. Her album, "Songs for the Valley of Shadows," has recently been released. The mother of two young sons, she and her husband, Martin, reside in Montclair.

Committee, headed by Ontario City Councilman Gus Ramos.

Ramos said the theme of the seminar will be "New Attitudes in Police-Community Relations." Representatives of all area police departments, the district attorney's office and the sheriff's department are expected to take part.

New glow Lamp nostalgia

By Jean Barnes

In the '30s on the farm "filling the lamps" was a privilege bestowed to the most responsible child and usually was performed as part of the "before school" ritual. Then, when chores were done and supper dishes were cleared away, the brightest lamp was set in the center of the table and homework was prepared for the next day.

More often than not in the midwestern states that lamp was a Coleman and many are still in use today.

In 1901 W. C. Coleman acquired the patent, contract and materials for the Efficient Lamp. Setting up his plant in Wichita, Kan., he began marketing, not lamps, but a lighting service to acquaint the public with his remarkable product. Unlike most lamps of that day the Coleman burned gasoline under pressure, producing a brilliant (300 candlepower) and safe light.

Those early lamps took time and effort to light. A torch generated the vaporizing unit. The torch required alcohol, an alcohol jar and a match, plus a minute to heat the vaporizing unit to produce light.

In those first years the lighting system was perfected which allowed business houses and homes to use a series of lamps fed from a single fuel tank outside the building. Fuel was fed to the lamps by means of a one-eighth-inch copper tube. It wasn't until 1908 that Coleman manufactured the first completely portable lamp. Constantly seeking improvements he patented the Quick-Lite lamp in 1913 which made the alcohol torch obsolete. His quest for "instant lighting" was rewarded. In 1929 a patent was issued for the Coleman Instant Lighting Lamp.

A 1920 catalogue of Coleman products shows that the Quick-Lite was the lowest in price, selling for $11.50 new. It was 20 inches tall and fitted with a white opal shade. The nickel-plated fount held three pints of fuel.

If you wanted something with more class you could purchase for $18 a lamp with hand-painted shade decorated with a four-inch crystal fringe. But the portable lamps were not really meant to be ornamental. They are functional in design and the design has changed very little in the past 50 years.

Coleman lamps were made in the United States as late as the 1940s and in Canada until last year. There are many, many Coleman lamps available to today's collectors. But with the public seeking alternate sources of energy and the present trend of "nostalgia" collecting this will undoubtedly affect the supply in the future.

Many 1930s farm children studied by Coleman lamps which gave safe, brilliant light but early 1900 models were difficult to light. Shown are (left clockwise) 1912 boulevard lamp, 1903 arc lamp, 1928 table model and 1915 chandelier.

Performances of 'Pinocchio' open

Thrills and excitement are reportedly in store for the young audiences in the Broadway musical version of Reuben Budrow's "Pinocchio." Under the educational program of the Greek Theatre Association, the production will open a two-week engagement at the Huntington Hartford

Theatre in Hollywood Tuesday, March 18, at 3:30 p.m. There will be 25 performances during the engagement. "Pinocchio" with its 102 king-size marionettes has, during recent engagements in St. Louis, Baltimore, Boston, Washington D.C. and Madison Square Garden in New York, broken all previous records for any showings aimed at moppet audiences. Aside from turning away some 150 at the final sold-out performance in Washington, there were scalpers on the sidewalks of the theatre asking $15 for a $3 ticket.

Reuben Budrow, director of the musical fantasy for children of all ages, has reportedly created an all-new, all-colorful version of "Pinocchio," the little puppet who wanted to become a "real boy." While it is a story with an inspirational moral, it reportedly captures all the thrills and perilous adventure. The meetings and temptations of cunning Findlay Fairweather the Fox, conniving Cornelius Kumquat the Cat, evil Fraboninni, great Carnivorous Catfish and all the creatures he encounters in the Enchanted Forest and Under the Sea, are all presented. Performance schedule for the first week will be Tuesday, March 18 thru Friday, March 21 at 3:30 and 7 p.m. Saturday, March 22 at 11 a.m. and 1:30 and 7 p.m.; Sunday, March 23 at 1:00 and 3:30 p.m. For the second week, performances will be Tuesday, March 25 thru Saturday, March 29 at 11 a.m. and 1:30 p.m.; and at 1:00 and 3:30 p.m. on Sunday, March 30.

Tom Hall swings into song

Tom T. Hall, who is being called a living legend in contemporary and country music, will appear on the stage of Swing Auditorium in San Bernardino on Friday night, March 14, the first weekend of the 60th National Orange Show, to run in San Bernardino March 13-23.

Tickets for the 8 p.m. concert are available at the Orange Show Ticket Agency, Ticketron, Liberty and Mutual outlets. When purchased in advance, they admit the bearer to the show grounds.

Hall is noted for his talents as a writer. His Hallnote Music Co., has received many awards for the narrative songs he created. The firm is rapidly becoming one of the major holders of copyrights in Music City. Hall devotes a good portion of his spare time to golf and hunting. He recently acquired a top blooded yearling pacer at the annual sale in Lexington, Ky. Hall hopes the horse will develop into a big winner on the Grand Circuit. The Halls live in a New Orleans type home in Williamson County south of Nashville.

RESTLESS IN SLEEP -- TIRED TOMORROW?

By DR. W. P. HELZER, D.C.

There seems to be a growing group of people who complain they are "always tired." What is the answer to this baffling problem? Before I answer, let me say that if you have the impression that the 'always tired' feeling is always the result of a deficiency of some important substance in the blood, that impression may well be wrong.

Dr. W. P. Helzer, D.C.

I don't care what that commercial says. There are other possible causes, and it is two of them that I would ask you to give some thought.

Consider 'lazy blood vessels'.

Should I drop a cork in a narrow stream where there is a fast current, the cork will float rapidly. Should that stream bed suddenly widen to a pond, the cork will float lazily along.

Now if that cork were a blood corpuscle in the blood stream, carrying oxygen to some needy cell, or if it were a particle of nutrition for that cell, you can imagine what would happen. The cell would tire before it received its nutrition.

Without getting so technical that I must give a complete description of the circulatory system and the function of the heart, let me simply ask you to observe that when the muscles in the walls of the blood vessels are generally too relaxed, the circulation of nutrition bearing blood to the cells is slowed too much. Some call it sluggish circulation. I used the term 'lazy blood vessels.' I would like to call your attention to a statement by Loyola University's Physiology specialist, Dr. William Zoethout: "In order that the tissues may be adequately supplied with nourishment and at the least expenditure of energy, a close correlation must exist between the nervous mechanism governing the heart and that controlling the size of the blood vessels."

Certainly then an upset in that nerve mechanism of tissue nutrition is an important factor in that 'always tired' feeling.

I mentioned two reasons for that 'always tired' feeling. The second is Unrelaxed sleep.

To feel fully refreshed and equal to the next day's tasks, one must be fully relaxed in sleep.

I could go on at some length but suffice it to say, the person who's always tired would probably get pretty bored over medical fact and supposition.

He's tired, he "runs out of gas" easily, he plops in a sofa when he gets home and can hardly force himself to pay attention to his family and job.

So I ask that he... or she... remember just one thing. Being "too pooped to pop" is not normal. Chances are that it is a condition that won't clear itself up, dives clear up the problem. I've had many patients drag themselves into my care. Frankly, it peeps me up to see them swing back into stride.

Bach work to be aired

Johann Sebastian Bach's inspiring "Mass in B Minor," with maestro Dr. Karl Richter conducting the Munich Bach Orchestra and Choir, will air as a Good Friday special March 28 (9 to 11:30 p.m.) on KCET, Channel 28. It will be simulcast over radio station KFAC.

Internationally-acclaimed baritone Hermann Prey, soprano Gundula Janowitz, mezzo-soprano Herta Topper and tenor Horst Laubenthal are the featured soloists in this special performance of Bach's towering masterpiece.

The two-and-one-half-hour program was filmed in the Stiftskirche (Abbey Church), one of the loveliest baroque churches in Germany. Built during Bach's lifetime in 1733, it is situated an hour's ride southwest of Munich in the small town of Diessen-am-Ammersee.

The broadcast will air nationally over the Public Broadcasting Service and is part of the Exxon-funded "Great Performances" series.

The concert will be introduced by Dr. Richter, who will guide viewers in a brief tour of the church. He also will introduce every major section of the "B Minor Mass," which was composed by Bach when he was director of music for the city of Leipzig.

Bach's "Mass in B Minor" is considered one of the supreme achievements in the history of music. It conveys a great variety of feeling and emotions.

The five sections of the Mass are: I. Kyrie, II. Gloria, III. Credo, IV. Sanctus, and V. Agnus Dei.

All of the artists participating in this concert are Bach interpreters with impeccable credentials. The conductor, Karl Richter, is, in a sense, a direct heir himself. In 1949, at the age of 23, the young musician became the organist at the St. Thomas Church in Leipzig, the church Bach served during the last 23 years of his life. Richter formed the Munich Bach Orchestra and supervised the development of the Munich Bach Choir. His name has become almost synonymous with the music of Bach.

Baritone Hermann Prey has performed leading roles in the most distinguished musical theaters of the world, including New York City's Metropolitan Opera House and Milan's La Scala.

'Wonders of the commonplace'

College slates art exhibit

Chaffey College has slated an exhibit of the wonders of the commonplace from March 9 until April 11 in its Rex W. Wignall Museum-Gallery.

Featured will be "Below Man's Vision: Electronic Windows to Unseen Worlds," about 100 photographic enlargements of tiny subjects from 50 to 100,000 times their actual size.

The exhibit, organized by the Field Museum of Natural History, is sponsored by the Smithsonian Institution. Its first day here will be marked with a reception from 2 to 5 p.m., hosted by the Museum-Gallery Auxiliary.

The common housefly is a world in itself when its wing edge, tongue, balancing organ and foot structure are each magnified into the thousands. So are a snail's teeth on such a scale; so, too, is wind-blown pollen.

The instrument that makes these pictures possible is the scanning electron microscope (SEM), the most significant advance in seeing aids in nearly 400 years. The SEM was perfected for scientific research in the mid-1960s.

The exhibit demonstrates the versatility and visual reach of science in three areas "Below Man's Vision." These areas are:

—Limits of seeing-eye, optic and electronic viewing.

—Unseen worlds of everyday objects and organisms.

—And samples of explorations from the Field Museum and the American Dental Association.

The Rex W. Wignall Museum-Gallery is open from noon until 4 p.m. and 7-9, Mondays through Thursdays, noon until 4 p.m., Fridays, and 2-5 p.m., Sundays. The facility is closed on Saturdays and holidays. There is no admission charge.

Hal Holbrook Opera star to interpret Mark Twain to appear in 'Odyssey'

Hal Holbrook's one-man show, "Mark Twain Tonight," will be presented in Bridges Auditorium at The Claremont Colleges on Saturday, April 12 at 8:15 p.m.

In announcing the engagement, Jay Doty, director of auditorium and theater events for The Claremont Colleges stated, "We are pleased to present Holbrook. This will be his only Southern California appearance this season."

Tickets will go on sale March 10 at the box office and all agencies.

Joan Diener will star opposite Yul Brynner in "Odyssey," the new musical by author Erich Segal ("Love Story") and composer Mitch Leigh ("Man of La Mancha"), which comes to the Ahmanson Theatre on June 10 as the second attraction of this year's Los Angeles Civic Light Opera season. Miss Diener created the role of Aldonza/Dulcinea, the sultry serving wench in the original Broadway production of "Man of La Mancha."
